Card of Thanks

Thank you
 Eddie and Edna Moran of Kiln would like to express their thanks and appreciation to all of their family and friends for the recent benefit dance held at the Kiln VFW.

Thank you also to all of the local merchants, whose contributions and donations made the benefit a success.

Mr. Moran was recently diagnosed with leukemia, and the dance was held to help him with his expenses.

ROLAND TAILLAC

The sun shined through my window today. Another year passed since God called you away.
 It's still so hard for us to understand; just a snap of His finger, the call of His hand.
 I will never question His decision, but if only He would have asked, I would have pleaded for His change of heart or taken any task.
 I guess you were chosen as His special one; the works He had for you to do here on earth were done.
 We must accept His choices, we must, we must, we must. It leaves us here with your memories, as the days turn down to dusk.

Clock ticking for landfill plans

BY ED LEPOMA

The players might have changed, but the clock's still ticking as Hancock County Supervisors continue to wrestle over future plans for a combination county rubbish site/landfill.

Supervisors reacted this week to a letter they received in mid-April from Jim Palmer, Executive Director of the State Department of Environmental Quality.

In essence, Palmer told supervisors that the rubbish site at Standard faces closure or downgrading June 30th unless the county can furnish scientific data and a plan that would support reasons to keep it operating. And, Palmer wants supervisors to come with a definite site and plan to dispose of Hancock County's household garbage in a sanitary landfill for years to come.

In his letter to supervisors, Palmer said, "The responsibility for finding a solution...has been placed squarely upon the Hancock County Board of Supervisors by state law, and there the responsibility will remain until the Board either surrenders this duty to some other entity, or worse, defaults."

Palmer actually requested a meeting of all the entities involved in the current impasse, similar to one he held last June with supervisors, the mayors of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, their city attorneys and their representatives on the Solid Waste District.

The DEQ chief was on the Coast this week for a series of meetings, and wrote Board of Supervisors President Philip Moran offering to run over to Bay St. Louis to meet with everyone involved.

But, at Monday's meeting when the press was temporarily out of the room, District 3 Supervisor Lisa Cowand made a motion for supervisors to hire Bill Johnson of Compton Engineers on an hourly basis to try to come up with a proposal the DEQ will accept. The move clearly puts Johnson on the perch, since he also serves as consultant to the Solid Waste District.

Johnson hurriedly contacted Palmer on the Coast, and asked if he could come to Bay St. Louis Wednesday morning and meet with him and "a couple of supervisors."

Palmer apparently thought he would be meeting with Moran and District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour since they have been in the forefront in past negotiations with him after plans were scrapped to put an already-permitted landfill at the Standard rubbish site. Or, maybe, Cowand, who as the board's representative on the Solid Waste District, seemed to join reluctantly in their search for land for a future rubbish site/landfill somewhere in the vast buffer zone around Stennis

Palmer told Johnson it would be a violation of the state's open meeting law if a quorum of supervisors were in attendance.

"No, there's won't be a quorum," Johnson assured Palmer. But, the players had now changed.

Now, it would be District 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner and District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman who would meet with Palmer, along with county attorney Gerald Gex.

Did Moran and Seymour want to avoid a proverbial trip to the woodshed or have they grown weary of having to explain to Palmer and citizens why the search for land has now gone into its eighth month with no purchase in site?

Palmer later called the Echo to say the meeting in Bay St. Louis lasted "more than two hours." He said he brought with him Bill Barnett, DEQ's groundwater division chief, and Billy Warden, environmental administrator in DEQ Office of Pollution Control.

Palmer told the Echo, "We went through every option (outlined in his letter to supervisors) and one that was not on the table at present."

He called the meeting "a very productive session," and said he was "pleased with the attitude of the two supervisors" present.

Palmer added it would now be up to Johnson "to come up with a plan (to extend the life of the rubbish site and for a future landfill) that is workable and agreed upon by all the entities involved."

With June 30th fast approaching, Johnson will most likely be burning the midnight oil, but out of the spotlight and out of the political arena he come up with a plan that might give the board some sense of direction and save the county thousands of dollars of fines that could be imposed by DEQ.

If Johnson does that his hourly wage would be justified, and supervisors might proclaim him their "miracle man."

Insurance rates rise for Hancock County employees

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County supervisors have agreed to pay $45 more a month to insure employees, but deductibles paid by individuals will have to be raised.

Despite the increased costs, County Administrator Tim Kellar says the work force still has an outstanding health and life insurance plan.

At their Monday meeting, supervisors voted to retain Pascagoula-based consultants Lockard and Williams to administer the county's self-insurance program, but were told contributions by the county needed to be increased because of "extremely high" claims paid out last year.

Consultants Jim Williams and John Lockard told supervisors since last May 1 when their firm began administering the plan through the present date (May 5), claims have totaled $812,000.

"For a group this size (135 individuals and family coverage for 46) that's extremely high," Williams said.

"You're facing a good size increase whether you're staying with the present carrier or change," consultants said.

Williams said eight of 10 carriers declined to even bid on insuring employees, and supervisors were given three options to make up for the shortfall.

Consultants said the county "needs to do something" to cut down on claims, but made no recommendations on how to do that.

The option recommended by Kellar and adopted by supervisors will raise the county's monthly contribution for each fulltime employee from the present $187.52 to $232.52 a month.

Employees pay $162.18 a month to insure their family members, but that will not increase, according to County Comptroller Patty Greer.

Greer estimates providing the insurance will cost an estimated $375,000 a year.

Deductibles will increase for those requiring lab tests at doctor's offices or hospitals and for hospital stays and surgery.

The deductible for using doctors and hospitals in the network of providers will go from $300 to $500 yearly and from $500 to $750 for using doctors and hospitals outside the network.

Employees will still only pay $10 each time they see a physician on the list of providers and will pay only $5 for generic drugs and only $10 for brand-name drugs.

Each employee is also provided a $15,000 life insurance and accidental death policy, but no dental or vision benefits.

At the beginning of the meeting, Bay High student Brad Griffith asked supervisors to consider his proposal for a wave wall to control beach erosion and damage to the seawall.

Griffith won a national award during last year's Young Inventors and Creators program for the proposal, which uses a series of culvert pipes to form a protection barrier.

His presentation intrigued supervisors, and they asked him to return to make another presentation the next time the county's Sand Beach Committee meets.

Brad is the son of Yvonne and Bryon Griffith. Bryon Griffith is a member of the Bay-Waveland School Board.

In other business Monday, Jail Warden Larry Willis asked supervisors to consider enclosing the area of the county jail now used for vehicle maintenance. He said estimates are the sheriff could house 20 more federal prisoners for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, and the additional revenue could go towards construction of a much-needed Juvenile Detention Center.

The area is currently used to work on Sheriff's Department vehicles, but Willis said the state Fire Marshall wants the practice stopped and maintenance moved to the county barn.

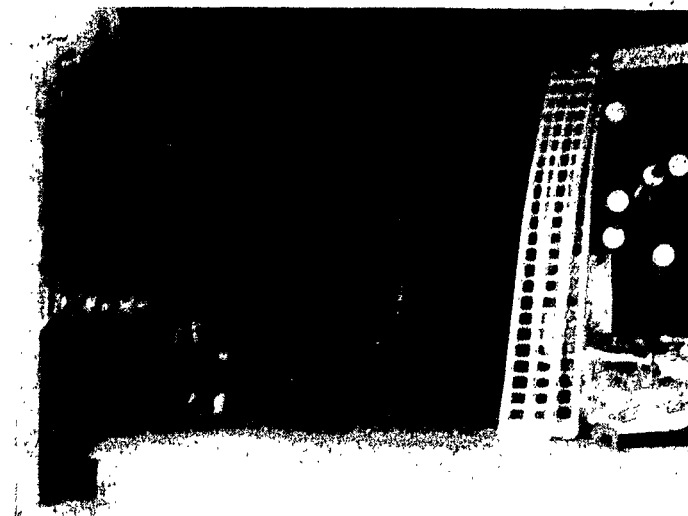

Supervisors also took under advisement, the warden's request to spend $2,000 and paint the county jail. Supervisors said it could be considered during upcoming budget talks.

District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman gained approval to move the small maintenance storage barn in his district from 9th Avenue in Pearlinton to a larger area on Hwy. 604. The transfer will be made if the Hancock County School District leases the 16th Section land to the county.

On recommendation of the Planning Commission, supervisors voted to grant fulltime status and a raise to Willie Gavney, the county's zoning enforcement officer.

Gavney's salary was raised from $15,800 a year to $18,000, and he will now be eligible for sick leave, vacation pay and other benefits.

Supervisors have also been asked to consider hiring a part-time assistant for Gavney, since his workload has more than doubled with the passage of a Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance last January. Commissioners said there is no one to back up Gavney should he take sick leave or vacation.

Wal-Mart fire

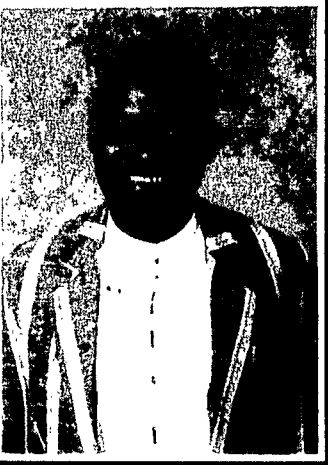

A small fire broke out in the garden center of the Waveland Wal-Mart Thursday evening. The fire was quickly extinguished although an eyewitness said the store was evacuated. Store officials were contacted but would give no further details. (Photo by Chuck Dutil).

"CUEVAS QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is now up to the qualified electors of the Bay-Waveland and Hancock County School Districts as to what type future in education our children will have.

Tuesday is the big election day for district bond issues which will fund much needed new school buildings and renovations of current structures.

Our schools are bursting at the seams, as an old saying goes.

I urge all qualified electors to vote for and support the bond issues.

Be sure to vote Tuesday

Visitors are being asked to Join the Hunt, as part of the Hancock County Tourism Development Bureau's big kick-off for tourism in the area.

Beth Carriere, tourism executive director, made the announcement Friday at the Hancock County Welcome Center on Interstate 10.

The primary purpose of the campaign is to entice Interstate 10 motorists and potential visitors from Louisiana and other areas to learn about and experience Hancock County's attractions.

The Hunt will be continue until September 1, 1997.

The lucky winner will receive A Jeep Wrangler donated by Casino Magic.

Visitors become a registered hunter at the Welcome Center at a special Safari Hut displayed in the Welcome Center.

They then receive a special map and a Safari Passport designating five specific Hunting Grounds within the county to visit and have their Safari Passport stamped.

The five places are the NASA Visitors Center, Buccaneer State Park, Old Town Bay St. Louis, Diamondhead Resort and Casino Magic with a bonus for spending a night at a local hotel, motel, bed & breakfast, etc.

The card is to be marked at each of the locations, and to qualify for the finals, an entrant must have at least five spaces marked. The card is then mailed to the bureau.

As Carriere reported, it sounds like it is going to be an interesting contest and should bring a lot of tourists to our county.

By the way, Carriere said volunteers will be at the Safari Hut in the Welcome Center seven days a week.

P.S. Rules are residents of Hancock County are not eligible to participate. Best of luck to the Hancock County Tourism Development Bureau on its promotion. Thanks goes to the sponsors, too, and let us not forget the volunteers who will help make this project a reality.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Business owner responds to officer's comments

Dear Editor:

Mr. Ken Hurt was obviously trying to imply that both Mr. Jeff Nancarrow and I were "outsiders" and therefore, our input was unacceptable.

For Mr. Hurt's information, and yours I have lived in Bay St. Louis since 1962 and have operated a business in Bay St. Louis since 1963.

I believe that paying property taxes, occupational taxes, and collecting taxes for the state for 15 years entitles me to call Bay St. Louis my home.

Also, Mr. Hurt was in error claiming that Mr. Jeff Nancarrow is from Washington, D.C. Mr. Nancarrow resides in, and is restoring a house in Bay St. Louis and pays his taxes in Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Nancarrow was visiting his mother in Haymarket, Va., when he received a call from his neighbor, Louise Beal, informing him that their homes were being threatened.

He quickly flew home in order to defend his property and make his feelings known at a Hancock County Board of Supervisors meeting on May 1, 1997.

And, finally, in regard to the example given by both Sheriff Peterson and Mr. Hurt (the youth who held a knife to his mother's throat), in my opinion, the youth in question, his family, and the community at large would be better served by placing him in a psychiatric hospital where his rage could be dealt with and treated.

Very truly yours,
Sandra Smith

Hancock High teachers urges bond issue support

Dear Editor:

This letter is written in regard to the Hancock County school bond issue.

Due to the casino boom, our area has grown at an alarmingly rapid rate. And once new companies enter Hancock County, the growth will be even more rapid.

As a teacher at Hancock High School, I see the need for school expansion and improvements daily. Even though our high school is fairly new, we have already outgrown it.

The student capacity for Hancock High School is 1,500 students. Our current enrollment for the 1996-97 school year was 1,633 students. Furthermore, our school enrollment increases by 150-200 students every year.

Classrooms are crowded with as many as 33 students, the minimum allowable by law. This is an unsafe situation for students, because it is impossible to give individual attention with such a large classroom, especially with the new longer class schedule.

Students will eventually be forced into alternative classrooms such as trailers. Years ago, Hancock County Schools were known as "trailer cities." I know that we never want to return to that time or that title.

Other schools in the district are not nearly as new as Hancock High School. Their needs for renovation and modernization are even more staggering. Containing truly impressive facilities and student bodies, Hancock County Schools are fast becoming schools of the future.

Our potential success is unlimited except by physical limitations such as classroom space and materials.

To achieve that success, we must prepare for the future by funding a new middle school and a new elementary school. We must also update all of our schools.

The cost of the bond issues is minimal compared to the future of our children.

Please support the Hancock County school bond issue. Vote yes on May 13.

Tina Ellzey
Hancock High Teacher

Student urges support of school bond issue

Dear Editor:

My name is Jazmin Gargoum. I am an eighth-grader at Hancock Junior/Senior High School.

Our school board is currently trying to pass a bond issue. This $20 million fund will go towards the building of two new schools and renovating the existing schools in the Hancock County School District.

We have too many people coming into our schools. In the years to come, it is a major possibility that we will have trailers as our classrooms.

A new middle school will be built with bond issue funds and will house our sixth, seventh and eighth graders. That will give more space for the high school to grow and will also even out the age differences.

It is hard to go from a school of kindergartners to a school of seniors. Our other desperately needed school is an elementary school.

We have three elementary

Hancock High student urges bond issue support

Dear Editor:

I am writing to you on behalf of the Hancock County School District bond issue.

As you know, there is a need for more space in our schools due to the growth of the area.

If you, the citizens of Hancock County, would pass the $20 million bond issue May 13, it would provide us with adequate facilities that are badly needed.

Most of you are concerned with the tax increase that will come along with the money. But building a new school isn't getting any cheaper, and something has to be done — soon!

We as students are the future of Hancock County.

So on May 13, vote yes and invest in our future.

Waveland faculty and staff urge bond issue support

Destiny is not a matter of chance, it is a matter of choice; it is not a thing to be waited for, it is a thing to be achieved.

—William Jennings Bryan
On May 13, the citizens of Bay St. Louis and Waveland will have a choice in the future of education in this community. Not by chance will we build a much needed school, but by choice.

Not by chance will we make needed repairs to existing buildings, but by choice.

Not by chance will we renovate buildings to meet today's technological standards, but by choice.

On May 13, we have an opportunity to choose to improve the educational facilities for our community. Together, we can achieve great things. Let's not wait.

Motorist says 603 four-laning has not made it safer

Dear Editor,
Guess what! The four-laning of Hwy. 603 hasn't made traveling on it any safer.

On the way to work this morning I saw my third accident in 11 days.

Two of these were on a two-lane stretch of road and one of these involved a school bus. All three were early morning and in good visibility.

The one this morning was at the entrance into Hancock High School, a four-lane area, where the majority of these accidents seem to be happening. It's always been my opinion that the problem here is the drivers, not the road.

I was hit from behind myself in February, 1996.

We need some kind of driver awareness program for all ages in this area. Do these accidents need to be highly publicized? Maybe the school could offer a safe driver course for students not in drivers education and something for adults also.

Bay property owner responds to comments of official

Dear Editor:

My name is Jeff Nancarrow, and I am responding to a statement that was made about me in the city paper in a public forum by a public official. Yes, I'm the guy who was from Washington, D.C. who they, in their words said, "I don't give a damn about him." How comforting!

To my knowledge, I have never met or had anything to say to this person. The only thing I think I did was oppose someone's idea of what would be best for me and every person who resides in the Bay.

I did something that every American has the right to do; something a lot of people had to die for. Need I remind someone this is not Nazi Germany! Let's put aside the fact that I had to cut short my business trip, lose money, and go through a great amount of aggravation all because local government could not find the time to tell me and others that they wanted to take our houses and our land from us.

Despite all that, when attending the Supervisors' meeting to speak my peace on this matter, I still showed respect for the people who sat in front of me. I expect the same!

I'm a citizen of the United States, born and raised. I expect a public apology from the official who not only works for me, but also the other citizens of this country.

Thank you,
Yours sincerely,
Jeff Nancarrow

Hancock County children need our support

Dear Editor:

On May 13, residents of Hancock County have an opportunity to prove just how much they stand by their county's children by supporting the school bond issue.

To the people who have children attending the county schools, the need for this money is obvious; our children are overcrowded and the facilities are badly in need of repair and renovation.

Hancock North Central Elementary, which housed 1200 Kindergarten through 12th grade students are mere seven years ago, now houses 1200 students in Kindergarten through sixth grade alone. And, the other schools in the district have similar overcrowding.

This bond issue is not frivolous; it's a necessity. Some residents may feel this does not affect them. Their children go to private schools, are grown, or they have no children. This bond issue affects everyone.

If you feel that severe overcrowding and inadequate facilities does not lead to a high dropout rate, teen pregnancies and the inability of Mississippi to rise out of last place in education statistics, then you need to think again. And those who plan to vote against it because of a dislike of school or board personnel, or the locations of the new schools need to reevaluate their commitment to their children and the children of Hancock County.

Did you know that we are fortunate enough to live in one of the lowest taxed counties on the Coast; second only to Biloxi which receives huge revenues from gaming?

Anyone who visited the Kiln during Superbowl season knows we have pride in our county. Hundreds of people came to see the school which Brett Favre attended.

Let's prove that we have not forgotten our pride in our schools and our community. Vote yes May 13.

Students urge bond issue support

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I am a first grade student at Hancock North Central Elementary. I hope we pass the bond issue in our county because the air-conditioner is not working good and the cafeteria has slick floors. Please vote yes and help our schools.

Sincerely,
Jade Riddle, 1st grade
Hancock North Central

Why it's important to have a public school.

It's important to have a new public school because it is closer for some students and less crowded in the school. The buses are also crowded because of the increasing population in the Kilm. We really need a new school.

Sincerely,
Tiffany Appel, 4th grade
Hancock North Central

Dear Friends:

In two years 2 schools will be built. An elementary school and a middle school. For this to happen, we need money. There will be a voting May 13th if you would not mind your taxes will be raised a little. But for a good cause. This money will also be used to make Hancock North Central better. So vote YES May 13th.

Regards,
Brian Easter, 4th grade
Hancock North Central

Dear Editor:

This bond issue will mean a lot to everyone if it is passed. There is getting to be overcrowded classrooms and less room to put extra classrooms. If this is not passed, these innocent children will be stuck in double-wide trailers instead of well organized roomy classrooms. Who can learn properly in something like that? Also, there are so many things that need renovations. How can a student take an exam with water dripping on his/her desk from a leaking roof? People, we need this. Vote for the bond issue and think of how this can help your child.

Sincerely,
Amber Faye, 6th grade
Hancock North Central

Dear Editor:

I think that we should go ahead and pass the bond. This bond issue is going to effect us and our families if we do not vote yes. Even though I will not go to the middle school my brothers and sisters will. We will be having classes in trailers instead of a nice air-conditioned school. If you really think about it this middle school will effect us all. Our schools will have more space for teachers, students, staff, and any other visitors that come on campus. Our halls won't be as crowded as they are now. One more important issue — if you vote yes we will probably cut down on alot of peer pressure.

Sincerely,
Dana Harris, 6th grade
Hancock North Central

Dear Editor:

We should vote yes for the school bond issue for several reasons. Hancock is filling up with new-students every day. Elementary schools and high school will be increasing greatly over the years. The Hancock Middle school for 6th, 7th and 8th grades will be necessary and very practical. This progress would also able elementary school in the Hancock County School District to have more room. My opinion is that this school district desperately needs to take action in this school bond issue.

Sincerely,
Lacie Ladmirault, 6th grade
Charles B. Murphy Elem.

Dear Editor:

You should vote Yes to the Hancock School District Bond Issue because it will lease future education to success in building a career. First of all, I want to tell you a little about the bond issue. It will provide a new Hancock High School for 6th, 7th and 8th grade, which is needed desperately, new tiles for floors, a new media center and much more. This will help kids have a better jump start to educational success. If you really care about your child's future you will vote yes on May 13th. This will cost of course for example tax rates will be higher the cost is dear but we need education. This will also enable kids to have better education. We would really appreciate your support on this issue.

Sincerely,
Sarah Anderson, 6th grade
Charles B. Murphy Elem.

Dear Editor:

I think we need more schools. Many more kids are coming to Hancock County. It will be nice to have more room. There can be less kids in each class. So, will you please try to pass the bond issue.

Sincerely,
Marcus Ladner, 6th grade
Hancock North Central

Dear Editor:

We need a bond because there are too many students in our school. We need a better school because our school is too old. We have so many repairs to do at this elementary school. We need a bond issue for a better education to go to high school and college.

Sincerely,
John Nelson, 4th grade
Hancock N. Central

Dear Editor:

Our school is too crowded. We don't have enough space or time to each lunch. We have to rush to do everything. Please vote yes on May 13, 1997.

Joseph Scafid, 6th grade
Gulfview Elementary

Dear Editor:

The school bond issue will better our education. The Hancock county School District will fix up our schools with many new things. They will be a new Jr. High with a sixth, seventh and eighth grade so we won't be overcrowded when we get to Hancock. They will build Charles B. Murphy Elementary a new media center. They will also build a new elementary for Hancock because they are also very over crowded. So as you can see the school bond issue will benefit us in many ways. We urge you to vote Yes for the school bond issue on May 13th. The children of our county will be deeply appreciate it.

Sincerely,
David Breland, 6th grade
Charles B. Murphy Elem.

Dear Editor:

The 20 million dollar bond issue is for us the kids. So if you not doing something on May 13th, go and vote. Because if not the kids will have to go to school with old roofs and old pipes. So please vote.

Justin Ferrill, 6th grade
Hancock North Central

Dear Editor:

We need more busses, schools, and classrooms. We are just too crowded. We need more places to plug in stuff.

Love,
Kelsey Morris, 1st grade
Hancock North Central

Dear Editor,

I think the bond issue is a very good idea. It will enable children to get an education without being crammed in a classroom. Children will be getting more help from their teachers. New schools in our county will make room for the expanding population.

Sincerely,
Todd Farrar, 6th grade
Hancock North Central

Money for school! How Cool!

As a student at Hancock elementary, I am happy to learn of a proposal that will help all school-age children in Hancock County School District. This proposal calls upon elected officials by taxpayers (like my mom and dad) to spend more money on education for Hancock County's children (like my brother and me).

I hope a bond issue will be passed to build new schools and improve the schools that already exist here in our school district. New schools will prevent overcrowding by giving us more room for our growing population. They would also give our teachers more room and fewer students so that they can plan and teach better lessons. Best of all, new and improved schools will give the students more room and pleasure in which to learn and grow.

Please support this proposal for us, the students of Hancock County.

Sincerely,
Ricky Flowers, 4th grade
Hancock North Central

Dear Voters:

We the fellow students at Hancock North Central Elementary urge you to vote YES for the school bond issue on May 13, 1997.

Reasons for voting YES:

1. Overcrowded conditions — 1,200 plus students at Hancock Elementary alone.
2. New students arriving daily, monthly, and yearly.
3. Permanent buildings instead of trailers for a better learning environment.
4. Renovations to existing schools.

As you go out to vote for the school bond issue on May 13, 1997, please remember the kids. The kids come to school to get an education, not to spend the tax payers money.

We appreciate your time and your vote.

Sincerely,
M. S. Necaise
6th Grade's Class

To Editor:

To me the importance of the school bond issue is to build and repair schools. By building new school(s) the schools will not be overcrowded. Repairing existing schools will create a better learning environment for all students.

You cannot put a price on a child's education

Dear Editor,

I am from Pearlington, and I'm appalled at the misinformation the people from our area have regarding the Hancock School Bond Issue. Yes, our property taxes will go up slightly, but you can't put a price on a child's education.

Our school in Pearlington is in need of repair, the bathrooms are in shambles, the parking is inadequate and the teachers spend their own money and time to make the classrooms a pleasant place for our children to learn.

These are just a few of the problems the money from the bond issue can cure.

Doing things the same as in the past doesn't work anymore. I think it is time to take a stand and make updated changes for our schools and our children's futures.

Please vote yes for the Hancock School Bond Issue on May 13. If we don't care enough for our children, who will?

Elizabeth Zeringue
Pearlington

Youth drama workshop

Aspiring young performers will get a taste of theater life during the 1997 Youth Drama workshop, sponsored by the University of Mississippi Department of Theatre Arts June 29-July 2.

Designed for ages 13 through 1998 seniors, the program will introduce participants to the art, craft and business of the theater. Students participate in daily workshops on the Oxford campus to stimulate creativity while learning the basics of the theater world.

Workshops include improvisation, mask and movement, Shakespeare, techniques for college and professional auditions, and business aspects — including discussions about agents, managers, unions, pictures and resumes, and New York City and Los Angeles versus regional theater.

Cost for attending the workshop is $230 for overnight participants and $180 for commuters. This covers housing, meals, accident insurance and workshop-sponsored social activities. The deadline for applying is May 30 and pre-registration is encouraged.

For information, contact the Youth Drama Workshop, The University of Mississippi, P. O. Box 879, University, MS, 38677-0879; phone (601) 232-5138.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

"Does Heaven Exist?" the cover of the March 24, 1997 issue of Time magazine asks provocatively, hoping to stir up a hornet's nest among those pursuing the American dream.

In a number of ways, the hornet's nest had already been stirred up many times over through cults like Heaven's Gate, through articles, books and sermons fomenting Millennium fever, through radio and TV talk shows about the hereafter.

Yet, according to Time, that's the problem. There is no hornet's nest to stir up. Virtually nobody is talking about heaven; no, not even the preachers of the various denominations. There is an apathetic funk about heaven.

"I can recall from my childhood many sermons on what used to be called the geography of heaven and the temperature of hell," observes Martin Marty the religious historian. "Now the only time you hear of heaven is when somebody has died."

That, unfortunately, is a very ambiguous statement, because people are dying at a very uncomfortable rate. I, for one, make heaven an indispensable item of every funeral celebration, and that is happening all too often.

Time observes that perhaps the main reason ministers and priests are not preaching about heaven is their fear of having to do battle with apathetic, skeptical, even unbelieving church members who may be trying to have heaven on earth.

What should heaven be like? For many, being an eternal couch potato with no end of football, baseball, basketball, golf, racing, boxing, musical TV, classic movies, comedy shows and travelogues would be just fine. Amusement forever.

For others, it is the eternal kid in the candy store, the gourmet at a perpetual feast of indescribable quality and proportions, the connoisseur of spirits surrounded by endless fields of crops, vineyards and sunshine. Party time forever.

Might heaven not be the exquisite range and sheer wonder of music, the varied and imaginative marvel of painting and sculpture, the electrifying skills of dancing, the athletic skills and expressions of our wondrous bodies? Joy forever.

Heaven must certainly be part of the rapture of closeness to the one(s) we hold dearest, part of the surpassing comfort of their company, part of the thrilling emotions of the warm, pleasurable, exciting well-being they give us. Love forever.

Yes, funerals are a special time to speak about heaven, but there are other occasions, such as All Saints, when addressing heaven is a must. What better picture of heaven then to celebrate in God all the holy ones who have preceded us?

Included in that mighty throng in a special way are all our ancestors and friends who now await us in heaven, wherever and however that is. There is no more troubling there, but only the peace, joy and wonder of our eternal God.

Christmas is a special time to remember heaven, as we sing with the angels: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace to those on whom his favor rests" (Lk. 2: 14).

It goes without saying that heaven fits into the Easter celebration in a most special way. What good would it do for us to rise without the prospect of always being with God?

No doubt, those who have a problem thinking and talking about heaven forget what heaven really is: simply being with God eternally and growing eternally in God's love and glory.

Sponsored by the Campus Ministry, OLA collected items needed by the Humane Society, such as dog food, cat food, disinfectants, bleach, paper towels, rags and newspaper.

Coping with stress begins with learning to say 'no'

Feel stressed out, burned out, and wiped out? Chances are that your overwhelmed feeling stems from one of two sources, a counseling psychologist says: relationships or work.

To manage stress, counseling professional Philip Drumheller of Mississippi State University advises that it's best to set limits. You can manage your time at work and at home, he says.

"In the workplace, try to set limits on what you say 'yes' to and what you can and cannot do," Drumheller said. Knowing that you cannot do everything helps you learn to pace yourself.

Drumheller strongly recommends planning leisure time during the week and on the weekends. "Don't work during your lunch breaks. Learn to relax on the weekends," Drumheller suggests. "Be sure you have a life away from work and responsibilities."

For those who find relationships stressful, Drumheller advises meeting people halfway. "When things don't go your way, don't turn disappointment into catastrophes. Instead, work them out together."

Drumheller offers tips for coping with the standard, everyday stressors:

Get regular exercise. "Find a hobby, get out, and have fun."

Manage time. "This means being assertive and setting limits without coming across as overbearing."

Learn to think positively. "Get out of the habit of seeing the half-empty glass," Drumheller recommends. "Try to think about what is going right instead."

Realize that you are human. "There is no one who doesn't sometimes fail," Drumheller points out. "Expect mistakes and cut yourself some slack."

Seek social support. "At times, it is frequently helpful to share your problem with others and ask for advice."

Watch what you eat. "Provide yourself with an adequate diet and eat foods that give your body the nutrition it needs."

HANCOCK SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

ELECTION DATE - MAY 13, 1997

Hancock County School District

2nd fastest growing district in the state

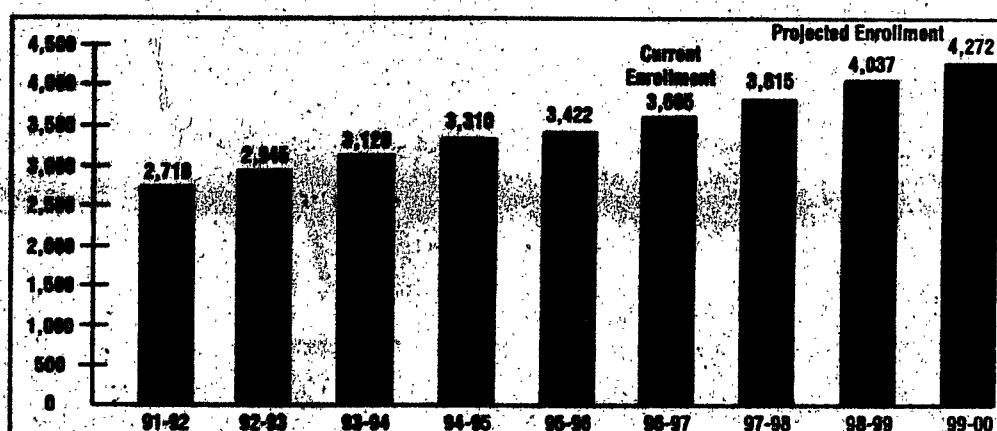

Facilities and Technology Proposals

- Hancock County Schools have enrolled over 1000 new students since 1990.
- Projected growth estimates another 1000 new students over the next five years.
- By 2000 there will be over 1800 students in a Jr./Sr. high school built for 1500.
- By 2000 there will be approximately 1500 students at Hancock Elementary.
- The proposed facilities are projected to provide for future growth.
- The proposal provides a well planned program for the technology needs of our students and schools for the 21st century.

The Proposal for Facilities and Technology will cost the owner of a $50,000 home approximately $58.50 per year - less than .17 cents per day. The cost to an owner of a $100,000 home approximately $117.00 per year - less than .33 cents per day. For timberland owners, for 40 acres, the cost is .38 cents per acre, or $14.18. For 40 acres of pastureland, the cost is .22 cents per acre, or $8.78. For marshland owners, for 40 acres, the cost is .04 cents per acre or $1.60. Residents age 65 and older are exempt if their homestead is $60,000 or less. Also for senior citizens, if your home is worth $100,000, you are only taxed for $40,000 - which is $46.80 per year. For an $80,000 home, you are taxed on only $20,000 - which is $23.40 per year.

DISTRICT GROWTH IS MAJOR CONCERN

Hancock County Schools have enrolled over 1000 new students since 1990. Projected growth estimates another 1000 new students over the next five years. Three of the district's four schools are now at capacity.

Hope Haven show raises $14,000

BY ED LEPOMA
More than $14,000 was raised during the 2nd Annual Extravaganza staged to benefit Hope Haven, Hancock county's home for abused and neglected children.

This year's event, staged at the Casino Magic Dome, featured a $10,000 draw-down, spaghetti dinner, all-male show and beauty contest, a spaghetti dinner and dancing to a band. Chairperson Lois Griffin estimates more than 600 attended the gala, and after expenses, a $14,000 profit was realized.

"The attendance was encouraging in view of the fact that we had some bad weather and heavy rains come through the area that afternoon," said Griffin.

The gala was the climax of a host of fund-raising events staged throughout the community in April to benefit Hope Haven.

"In all, we raised about $32,000 for the month," said Griffin.

The "Lipstick, Powder and Curls" contest drew contestants from area businesses, casinos, and the political arena, and was emceed once again by WLOX weatherman Mike Reader.

The winner of the contest was Jake Vandellie of Casino Magic; 1st runner-up was District 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner; and second runner-up was the Echo's Ed Lepoma. The Supremes were voted best group.

Griffin thanked Hope Haven's Board of Directors and all supporters who helped and participated in the event.

"It's going to be even bigger next year," she promised.

Carey basketball camp set

Head Men's Basketball Coach Steve Knight announced the dates for the 15th annual William Carey College basketball camps. Four separate camps will be offered and will take place at Clinton Gymnasium on the Hattiesburg campus.

The specializes shooting camp has been expanded to include two separate sessions. Shooting Camp I will be June 9-11, 9 a.m.-noon each day.

Shooting Camp II will be June 23-25, 9 a.m.-noon. The camps will be open to boys and girls and will emphasize all aspects of shooting. The $45 fee includes a camp T-shirt and insurance.

The traditional weekly session will be July 14-18 for boys ages 7-18. Campers will be divided according to age, skill level and overall athletic ability. The camp will offer individualized instruction in all phases of basketball with emphasis on fundamentals.

Free boating course on Net

There's now a free, accredited boating safety course on the Internet.

Developed by BOAT/U.S. Foundation for Boating Safety in cooperation with the National Safe Boating Council, the "On-line Boating Safety Course" can be found by logging on to the BOAT/U.S. website at <http://www.boatus.com>.

The course has been approved by the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators, the organization charged with setting education standards for boating courses.

A reference guide and glossary of nautical terms are provided for the 50-question test. If an incorrect answer is chosen, the correct answer is displayed. If a boater's state is participating in the test, questions recognizing the state's specific boating requirements will also be asked.

Scores will be generated automatically. A passing grade (80 percent or higher) will be rewarded with a BOAT/U.S. boating safety certificate.

Daily sessions will include basketball drills, shooting sessions, offensive and defensive group work and scrimmage games.

Cost for the day camp (9 a.m.-4 p.m.) is $150 and includes a camp T-shirt, noon meal and insurance. Cost for

PRCC cheerleaders

Judges from the Universal Cheerleading Association (UCA) selected Pearl River Community College's 1997-98 cheerleading squad April 18-19 in tryouts in M. R. White Coliseum, according to Billy Temple, PRCC student activities director and cheerleading squad sponsor.

Temple said the tryout participants were judged on tumbling, stunting and motions.

PRCC's cheerleading squad for next year are Myndi Kuhlman, Christina Lumpkin, Anna Edmonds, Jason Bennett and Randy Mililli, all of Picayune; Trinity Adam of Pass Christian; Angie Richardson of Waveland; Amber Smith and Ashley Reid, both of Poplarville; Leslie White of Petal, Clint McPhail of Oak Grove (mascot), Jason Kiffe of Purvis, and Grady Strain of Carriere.

thought I was crazy."

"We actually bought two lots. I wanted corner property," said Fountain. "We took the old house and kept stretching it and pulling it until we got what we wanted."

The Fountains collaborated on every essential of the house, from the floors to the stained glass windows to the drapes and paneling on some of the walls. The raised home is Acadian in style and contains 10,000 square feet on three levels.

Inside, the home exudes a casual elegance, and Fountain's desire to be surrounded by his roots and past and present accomplishments.

A bust of a gorilla wearing a German World War II helmet presides over a bar that is the center piece of the great room on the floor level.

"This is where we have our parties," said Fountain. "When the kids were growing up, we'd come here for Thanksgiving, Christmas—all the major holidays, and to some extent, we still do."

The bar area is decorated with Indian artifacts and assorted memorabilia.

"My great grandmother was a Cherokee. They used to joke she looked like she fell out of a tepee. How can you fall out of a tepee?" he laughs out loud as he remembers.

His French grandfather, Ramon Fountain, was a fisherman and on one wall of the house, Fountain displays a picture of one of the two schooners he captained.

Fountain calls himself a Civil War buff and the adjoining pool room contains Confederate currency displayed in prominent frames, old rifles and other mementos.

Another room is a game room with pinballs machines and other devices. "The kids love it, but the adults use it too," he says.

The downstairs is for entertaining, but upstairs is the family quarters. At the top of the winding mahogany staircase, three of Fountain's gold records are on display.

An oil portrait of Fountain painted by friend Garland Robbinette is the centerpiece of the living room, which also includes a grand piano. Framed pictures of children and grandchildren are prominent atop the piano, and throughout the house are pictures of Johnny Carson, Phil Harris and other celebrities Fountain has met during his long and well-publicized career.

The living room opens up onto a wide porch that spans the length of the home.

"I love to come out here. It's so peaceful and beautiful. You forget any cares you might have. I can sit for hours on the porch," says Fountain.

He proudly points to a windmill anchored on the front lawn. "That was given to me by Phil Harris and (wife) Alice Faye," says Fountain. "It's a windmill. It makes wind."

Upstairs bedrooms are furnished with antique beds and other pieces bought from the Melrose Plantation on River Road, and Fountain credits his wife for cultivating his appreciation of fine furniture.

On the third level is what Fountain calls "the kids' rooms."

Two bedrooms are situated off each side of a large living room with loft windows that provides a panoramic view of the Bay.

The Fountain clan now consists of daughter Darah Fountain Harrell and her husband, Benny, who has been Fountain's manager for 22 years. They have three grown children, Gregory and Evan, and daughter, Daniel.

Kevin Fountain handles his father's nightclub and all that entails. He is married to the former Jane Pitcher and they have two young girls, Victoria and Hillary, and another one the way.

"When they first got married, Jane caught hell at the club for that. She was a Pitcher married to a Fountain—Pitcher-Fountain," he quipped.

Single son Jeff works with Harrell in Pete Fountain Productions, which arranges special events and tours for conventions coming to town.

Fountain seemed a bit disappointed none of his children shared his musical talent.

"They all took up some kind of instrument for a while—the two boys tried the clarinet, and I think Darah tried the guitar and trombone. But they thought they could learn to play the thing in two weeks and gave up when they couldn't," Fountain recalls.

Fountain's mother, the former Madeline Letort of Biloxi, lived at the compound for awhile, but she's now 92, and has gone to live with his sister, Delores (Matherne), in New Orleans.

The large and still-growing family is probably the reason there's more behind the fenced Fountain compound. He has built two guests apartments on each end of a centered garage (another 2,000 square feet of living space), another game room, and there is a larger garage that houses his party boat and the bus he used to take on the road.

A caretaker is employed to manicure the lawn and property, which boasts large, stately moss-covered oaks, pecan trees and a variety of azaleas and other plants.

Fountain points to one large flattened area of grass as another project that might be tackled next.

"This is where we play baseball, volleyball and other games. I was thinking about laying down a tennis court, but I haven't gotten to it yet," he says.

The tour is now over, but the story wouldn't be complete without a mention of how a "skinny kid with bad lungs" became America's virtuoso clarinetist.

Peter Dewey Fountain Jr., was born July 3, 1930 in New Orleans. His father was a truck driver and salesman for Dixie Brewing Company.

"I called him the old bird," Fountain said. "On Back Bay (Biloxi) everybody knew him and loved him, but everybody called him Dewey, not Pete."

Fountain apparently inherited his musical talent from his father. "He could pick up and play anything—the harmonica, the fiddle, drums," he recalled.

Fountain said he initially wanted to be a drummer, but after the weak lung diagnosis, the doctor prescribed the clarinet.

"The old bird picked up my clarinet and played it before I did. I was so mad because I could hardly get a note out of it," said Fountain.

At nine years old, the fledgling musician began hanging out on the stoops of the Top Hat Club, not far away from his home off Broad Street, soaking up the sounds of New Orleans jazz.

By 16, Fountain had dropped out of Warren Eastern High School, and began gaining a reputation at the jazz clubs lining world-famous Bourbon Street.

He moved on to play in the Junior Dixieland Band in the Parisian Room, then with Phil Zito, then the International Dixieland Express at the El Moracco Club on Bourbon.

Bay election results official

BY BETSY GAGNET

The votes have been counted and Ward 3 incumbent Tom Farve is out.

Candidates Charles Edward Johnson and Connie Payne Lampley will face each other in a runoff on May 20.

In by far the closest Bay St. Louis City Council race, only 17 votes separated Farve, who finished third with 137 votes, and Johnson, who finished first with 154 votes. Lampley finished two votes ahead of Farve with 139, and Willie Acker got 60 votes.

"I'm very happy I ran a hard campaign," Lampley said. "I worked very hard and a lot of people supported me in this endeavor and I want to thank them."

As to the runoff, Lampley said she has a hard race ahead of her and she plans to "beat some bushes and get back out as hard as I can on May 20."

Johnson, who served on the council from 1985-1989, said he will also be back on the street campaigning.

"I thank God I made it this far," Johnson said. "We'll let the people make the choice."

Farve said it was a good race. "I appreciate all the support I had and the people who supported me for eight years," Farve said. "A lot was accomplished in eight years for the city and there is a lot to come in the future. I give my best to the next councilman in my district."

Election officials examined the 24 affidavit votes from Ward 3 and determined 11 were That's where cupid struck. He met Beverly Lang.

"She wanted to marry a musician, and I wanted to be a musician," Fountain recalls.

The two have been inseparable for 46 years, and he credits Beverly for having "the business mind" and snatching him from the jaws of some risky ventures, such as the purchase of the Buena Vista Hotel in Biloxi and an ill-fated Peter's Wieners chain of hot-dog stands that flopped on an initial tryout in Bay St. Louis.

Fountain's national and international acclaim skyrocketed shortly after he decided to make the move to California and join the Lawrence Welk Show in 1957. In that showcase beamed each week into millions of American homes, Fountain is credited with beginning the resurgence of the distinct New Orleans jazz sound.

He recalls Welk fondly, but said Welk was adamantly against any musician who drank and performed.

"He liked to kill me," says Fountain. "For the most part, he kept me sober, but everytime I managed to get to a bar, instead of one drink, I'd have a double to catch up."

After two years in California -- as the song goes -- Fountain knew how it feels to miss New Orleans, and he decided to move his family back to the Crescent City.

The family settled into a home on the Lakeshore, and Fountain opened his first club at 831 Bourbon, then moved closer to Canal at 231 Bourbon.

Convinced his fans would follow him wherever he went, 20 years ago, Fountain opened the largest jazz club in the city on the third floor of the riverfront Hilton Hotel. There, he and his seven-piece band entertain locals and tourists during one set a night, scheduled at 10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays and Fridays and Saturdays.

But, over the years, Fountain has continued to maintain an international and national exposure.

He appeared more than 59 times on the Johnny Carson Show, was featured on the old Ed Sullivan show, and performed in specials with Bob Hope and Bing Crosby, Andy Williams and others. He has played with other legends like Louis Armstrong and Harry James and rising stars the like of Marvin Hamlisch and Harry Connick Jr.

Starting in 1970, Fountain was voted the Number One Jazz Clarinetist in the world 13 years in a row in Playboy's Reader's Jazz Poll.

Along the way has come three gold record for his albums and one single gold for his rendition of "Just a Closer Walk With to be voted in the council race. Five of the ballots were disallowed because the voters were not registered in Bay St. Louis. Eight ballots were by voters living outside of Ward 3 and were not allowed for the council race, but were counted in other races.

The winner of the runoff will face Independent Thomas P. "Tom" Clarke in a general election on June 3.

The official vote results of the Democratic Primary elections are as follows.

Mayor: Edward A. "Eddie" Favre-1727, Richard J. Fayard, Sr.-583, Don Dahl-72.

Council Ward 1: Carleen Murphy Moran-408, Charles C. Scianna-243.

Council Ward 2: Linda Lala Beauregard-83, James C. "Jim" Thriftley-331, Bob Travers-120.

Council Ward 3: Willie C. Acker-60, Thomas "Tom" Farve-137, Charles Edward Johnson-154, Connie Lampley Payne-139.

Council Ward 4: Tad Black 406, Ronald J. LaFontaine-318.

Thee."

Fountain has been invited to perform at the White House for five state dinners and three different presidents. He said one of his biggest honors was being asked to play for the Papal Mass celebrated on the lakefront when Pope John Paul II visited New Orleans in 1984.

He has performed before thousands in the stands and millions more watching every Super Bowl staged in New Orleans, and he won an Emmy in 1990 for his performance.

He also remains active in the New Orleans Mardi Gras, serving as King of the Bacchus parade in the 1980s, and organized his own Half Fast Walking Club 37 years ago.

"We were all in our 20s, when we started out," recalls Fountain. "Now, we're old men, but we're going to do it as long as we can." "We're still tootin' and scootin'."

Asked about the requirements for membership in the elite club, Fountain quipped, "Good feet and a good liver."

Looking back, Fountain says he has no regrets about the roller coaster ride his clarinet and talent has taken him on.

"It's been good. I don't know if I would change anything," said Fountain.

"Maybe a little later, Beverly and I might think about settling into a smaller house here. The kids will probably throw us in a little apartment and take it over. They'll worry that we'll get too old and set this one on fire."

But, for now, Fountain is lord of his Cedar Point Plantation and leading the good life deserving of a man who has brought much joy to the world and whom President Clinton calls, "A National Treasure."

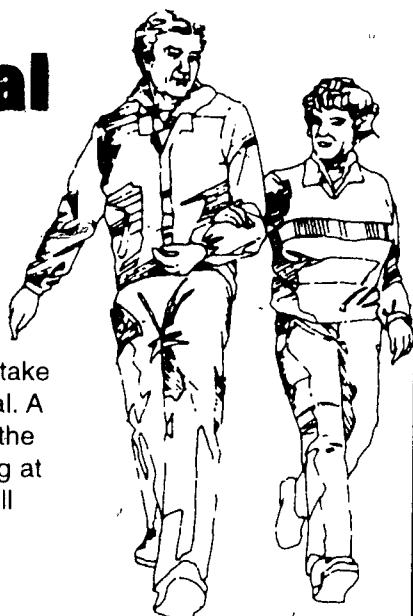

(Personal note: The visit is over, and Fountain autographed a picture for me and my parents. The inscription on mine reads: "To Ed, Your Cousin. Pete Fountain." You see, his great-grandmother and my great-grandmother were sisters, and he often visited my family home on Dumaine Street down the street from his, knew my grandparents and mom and dad, and my late Uncle Clarence was one of his closest friends when they were growing up).

What's all the fuss about Social Security?

Editor's Note: First of a two-part series on Social Security.
A reader writes about a fortune teller and her conclusions concerning a crystal ball. "I see you getting Social Security when you retire," the fortune teller says. "Think the customer," "Now I know that's a joke."

Obviously, concerns over the future solvency of Social Security are growing, fueled by media reports spelling out the impending demise of our nation's retirement trust fund. Workers currently paying into the system wonder if there will be any money left by the time they retire, while the 33 million retirees and 10 million disabled workers, survivors and dependent children who are already drawing benefits wonder how long those checks will keep coming.

Before any of us start losing sleep over the future of Social Security, let's take a good look at how it works, what its current status is and what challenges lie ahead. Examining the facts may actually inspire some confidence in a system that has been very successful, by anyone's standards.

Contrary to what you may have been led to believe, Social Security is quite healthy and should remain so for many years. In fact, in 1996, Social Security received $80 billion more in tax revenue than it paid out to beneficiaries. These extra dollars are held in the Social Security trust fund and are referred to as "surplus" funds. Current law mandates that these surplus funds be invested in U.S. Treasury bonds within the trust fund. With these facts in hand, it's clear that the current status of Social Security is good.

So, if there is enough to pay current beneficiaries, and a large surplus is tucked safely away in treasury bonds, why all the fuss about Social Security? The concern begins when we look toward the future health of the fund. In order to understand why the future could bring problems, we need to look first at the past.

Social Security was signed into law as part of the New Deal following the Great Depression. This 1935 law called for Social Security to pay full retirement benefits to eligible beneficiaries at age 65; yet, the average life expectancy at that time was less than 62 years. Initially, most people didn't live long enough to receive Social Security.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Submitted by Craig Foster
Edward Jones Co.

Today, most people live an average of 76 years, yet the eligible age for drawing full benefits is still 65. This means that Social Security is now paying retirees for 10 to 15 years, and the system was simply not designed to pay for this long.

The original purpose of Social Security was to provide a social safety net that would keep the neediest of the retired and disabled above the poverty level. It was, and is, a pay-as-you-go system. Contributions from taxes on current workers are immediately given to retirees. When the system started, about 45 workers paid taxes for every retiree receiving benefits. Today, people live longer and have fewer children. The result is a current ratio of just 3.2 workers for every retiree. By 2030, when the last of the baby boomers retire, it will likely be 2-to-1.

To understand the impact these ratios have on the system's strength, take a look at the numbers. In 1995, about $2,600 was paid into the system by every worker (including the employer's matching payment). The average payout to each Social Security recipient was $7,944. With the current 3.2-to-1 ratio, a surplus of funds is still created. However, if the expected ratio of two workers for every retiree becomes a reality, it is clear that the current system will not be able to sustain its future obligations.

If Social Security is a pay-as-you-go system, why do we have a surplus in the trust fund? In 1983, Congress realized that Social Security would face big problems in the future since birth rates had declined and retirees were living longer. That same year, Congress passed laws that increased tax revenues into Social Security by raising payroll taxes and income taxes paid on Social Security benefits. These laws contributed to the surplus collections, which are designed to provide a cushion for a system that is expected to be underfunded within 15 years.

If you're wondering whether the fund's surplus can pick up the slack, the answer is yes. In 2012, when experts estimate payouts will exceed tax revenues to the fund for the first time, the trustees of the fund will start withdrawing interest and principal to make up for the revenue shortfall. This will allow Social Security to continue to meet its obligations — for a time. In 2030, it is estimated that all surplus dollars will be depleted, and projected tax revenue for that year will cover only 75 percent of the fund's expected obligations. This is why experts say the fund will be "bankrupt" in 2030.

All of the recent discussions in the news about Social Security deal with the expected problems in 2030. In our next article, we will discuss some of the proposed solutions.

Union Planters, Magna Bancorp announce merger agreement

Union Planters Corporation, the $15 billion asset Memphis-based bank holding company and Magna Bancorp Inc. (NASDAQ:MGNL), the $1.5 billion asset parent company of Magnolia Federal Bank for Savings, have announced they have agreed to merge.

The announcement was made jointly by Benjamin W. Rawlins Jr., chairman and CEO of Union Planters and Robert S. Duncan, chairman and CEO of Magna.

The agreement calls for Union Planters to exchange approximately 5,165 shares of its common stock for each common share of Magna. The transaction would be valued at approximately $323 million or $23.50 per share based on Union Planters May 8 closing stock price of $45.50.

The merger is to be tax-free to Magna shareholders and will be accounted for as a pooling of interests. The merger is subject to Magna shareholder approval, regulatory approval and normal contractual conditions being met, and is expected to be completed during the late third or early fourth quarter of this year.

mitment to that business."

Bob Duncan comments, "Our combined organization will provide a better term service for our customers, employees and shareholders alike. The affiliation with Union Planters will mean our customers can expect an enhanced level of convenience and a much broader product line. I personally look forward to the opportunities that are ahead. We have always shared Union Planters' commitment to community management and we look forward to continuing this tradition."

Magna converted to a stock thrift from a mutual thrift in 1991 and is the largest thrift

In making the announcement, Ben Rawlins stated, "We are pleased that the Magna team selected Union Planters as their long-term partner. Magna's general banking lines will increase our penetration in Mississippi, especially in Jackson, and the Gulf Coast while providing us entry into Mobile, Ala. and their mortgage loan expertise will continue to strengthen our strategic com-and the sixth largest financial institution in Mississippi, as well as the largest thrift in Alabama. After the merger, the combined Union Planters affiliates will represent the third largest financial institution in Mississippi.

Magna Federal operates 62 banking locations and 63 ATMs in Mississippi and south Alabama; Union Planters has 112 offices and 120 ATMs in Mississippi. An analysis is currently underway to determine which locations of the two organizations that are in proximity to each other will best serve customer needs.

Magna's subsidiary, Magna Mortgage Company, is a major mortgage servicer with over $4.1 billion in loan servicing which will be combined with Union Planters' mortgage loan servicing that exceeds $10 billion, resulting in one of the nation's largest secondary market mortgage servicing operations.

Union Planters, founded in 1869, has over 430 banking locations and 560 ATMs in Tennessee, Mississippi, Missouri, Arkansas, Alabama, Louisiana, and Kentucky. At March 31, 1997 Union Planters was the 42nd largest banking institution in the United States, serving the needs of over one million households.

PULSE acquires GulfNet

PULSE ETF Association has completed the organizational acquisition of GulfNet, the Louisiana-based regional ATM network, and is expected to complete the technical conversion of the network by Dec. 1, 1997.

As a result of the merger, GulfNet members are now part of the PULSE network, which serves eight states in the South and Southwest, including Arkansas, Colorado, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas.

The program now consists of more than 1,900 banks, savings institutions and credit unions. The combined network consists of more than 30,000 ATMs, 122,000 point-of-sale (POS) locations and will process more than 21 million ATM and POS transactions per month.

"The combined strength of the two networks offers many benefits to the members of PULSE and their customers," said Stan Parr, president and CEO of PULSE.

"The common purpose shared by the two organizations to build a strong, cost-effective network for the southern and Gulf Coast regions allowed negotiations to proceed quickly. We anticipate a similar agree-sive approach to the technical conversion effort."

Former GulfNet members will have a year to remove the GulfNet logo from exterior signage and replace it with the PULSE logo. Two years will be given to remove the GulfNet logo from ATM cards and replace it with the PULSE mark.

PULSE will maintain a Gulf Coast office staffed by former GulfNet employees. The Board of PULSE will be expanded to include representatives from institutions in Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee. Del Tonguetto, president of the GulfNet program, has indicated he will be leaving the organization to pursue other opportunities.

PULSE is a not-for-profit, membership-based organization that provides switching and settlement services for ATMs, POS and other electronic banking services for financial institutions, participating merchants and consumers across the South and Southwest.

Study reveals positive impact of casino gaming on MS Coast

BY RANDY PONDER
The gaming industry has been responsible for a dramatic increase in new jobs and higher wages, especially among minorities and women, according to a new study released by Arthur Andersen.

American Gaming Association president and CEO Frank Fahrenkopf presented the findings of the report during his keynote address to the Southern Gaming Summit held this past week at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

For years, anti-gaming advocates have been selling the American people, the media and opinion-makers a defective bill of goods based on so-called economic theories with no basis in fact, Fahrenkopf stated.

"That bill of goods has three distinct parts: first, that all gaming is harmful; second, that it is a predator industry in an economic sense; and third, that any economic benefit from gaming will be exceeded by the social costs of gaming."

On the morality issue, Fahrenkopf said, "We live in a wonderful country where a divergence of opinion is not only tolerated, but is encouraged. Many find what we do immoral.

Nothing we can say or do will change their minds. We respect their right to maintain their opinion as long as it is based on fact. The fact is that their views are not shared by the vast majority of Americans. Last year, more than 150 million visits were made to casinos. Right here on the Gulf Coast, almost 80 percent of all tourists visited a casino."

The second argument maintains that a dollar spent in a casino is a dollar lost elsewhere, referred to as the "substitution theory," claiming that gaming takes from existing businesses and creates no real growth of its own in the economy.

"Prior to the arrival of gaming, the average annual increase in retail sales in the Biloxi/Gulfport area stood at three percent. After gaming arrived on the scene in 1992, that growth jumped to 12 percent. The $2.2 billion in retail sales during 1996 was an all-time high for this area," Fahrenkopf said.

The total dollar value of residential construction permits issued for the years 1993 through 1996 was double the value of the permits in 1991 and 1992 in the Biloxi/Gulfport area, according to the report. Overall hotel occupancy on the Mississippi Coast increased from 55 percent before gaming to 70 percent since its establishment. During that same time, the number of rooms available and the rates charged for those rooms were increasing.

The study also notes that 11,200 new jobs were created by the casinos in the Biloxi/Gulfport area. And at the same time, non-gaming service jobs also increased by almost 30 percent.

"Where is the substitution?" Fahrenkopf asked. "There is none. More jobs. Better jobs for everyone. More money in the local economy. Judged in the cold, clear light of the facts, the 'substitution theory' cannot stand up to reality."

On the social costs of gaming issue, the Andersen report indicates that in the Biloxi/Gulfport area, the average number of AFDC recipients has dropped steadily every year since the casinos opened in 1992. Benefit payments are also down. The number of people using food stamps has declined from 20,000 in 1992 to 15,000 in 1996, an average of 2,000 per year, an average of $10,000 in benefits during 1996.

Mississippi's per capita income is the highest of the local casino work force. Women hold 50 percent of the jobs.

Harrison County's retail tax collections grew from $78.1 million in 1992 to $130.4 million in 1996.

Local governments paid $7.6 million in 1996 and local gaming taxes up from $66 million in 1995. Gaming taxes account for 20 percent of the city of Biloxi's total tax revenues, about one-third of which is earmarked for education.

"We in the gaming industry are well ahead of the national policy makers who struggled for years to find ways to help people off welfare and get them into the work force," Fahrenkopf said.

"The study reveals a solid formula: Provide people with opportunities. Give them good jobs with decent pay and reasonable benefits, and people will work."

"We should all be proud of what this study shows about our industry," Fahrenkopf concluded. "Ours is a vital, growing and caring industry that can contribute appreciably to every community in which we have a presence. Gaming is not a magic economic silver bullet that is right for every community in the United States. It can provide jobs, can revitalize and can assist them to prosper. Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York once said, 'Everyone is entitled to his own opinion, but not to his own facts.' What this study has discussed with you today shows is that the actual facts are on our side and that our opponents and the facts are strangers to one another."

Hotard elected chairman

Eva Hotard, president of Hotard Coaches Inc. based in New Orleans and the Mississippi Gulf Coast, has been elected chairman of the National Motorcoach Network Board of Directors for 1997-98.

Hotard previously served on the board as vice chairman and played an instrumental role in the leadership of the network. As chairman, she plans to build upon the strength of the network and create new programs that will lead the organization far into the next century.

Hotard says, "I have benefited, both personally and professionally through my membership in the network. I am excited about the opportunity to contribute more and give back something of value to the membership."

Community and business leaders are also excited about Hotard's new position on the board. Stephen B. Richer, executive director of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau said, "Eva's position as chairman of the board is a real asset to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Her background, leadership and strong involvement in local tourism, coupled with our phenomenal new development, will increase visibility and business to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The entire region will benefit from her new national role and visibility."

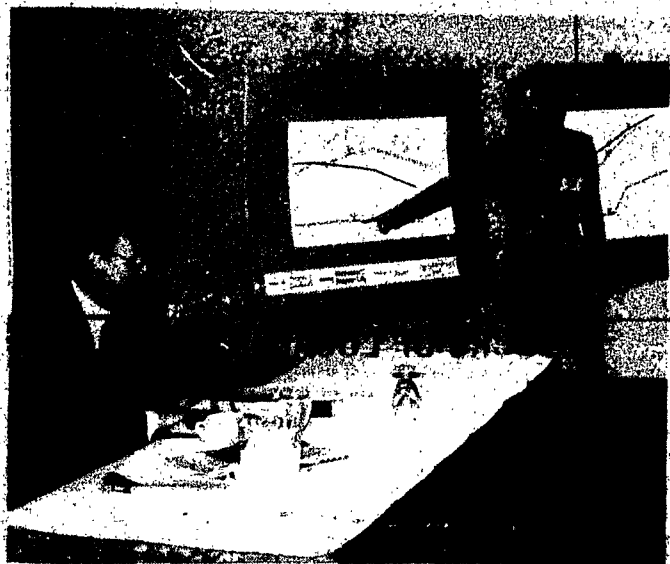

The National Motorcoach Network is the marketing consortium which operates the largest tour and travel fleet in the United States. The election was held at the network's annual winter invitational and marketing seminar in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Trade Club meets

The International Trade Club of Mississippi Inc. meets Thursday, May 23 at the Great Southern Club, One Hancock Plaza in Gulfport. Cocktails will be served 6-6:30 p.m., dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Speaker Daniel Paret, commercial trade officer of France, will speak on the topic "Doing Business with French Companies and France. Speaker Donald Hoffman will present "French-American Chamber of Commerce."

For reservations, call Alteta Smith of the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development, 392-0907.

SBA Women's Pre-qualification Loan Program available

Janita R. Stewart, SBA district director, recently announced that Mississippi has been approved to participate in the Women's Pre-qualification Loan Program.

Introduced as a pilot program in 1994, the program is designed to increase the number of loans made to women business owners by helping them prequalify for SBA guarantees. Since the program's inception, the SBA has approved 614 loans for a total of nearly $63 million.

Under the program, selected nonprofit intermediaries work with applicants to develop viable business plans and loan applications. The intermediary reviews credit information, performs a loan analysis, and submits the application to the SBA.

The SBA reviews the completed application and, if acceptable, issues a Pre-qualification Letter to the intermediary. The applicant then takes the letter, along with her loan package, to a commercial lender to apply for a SBA-guaranteed loan of up to $250,000. Applicants are expected to have a reasonable investment in the business.

The Central Mississippi Planning and Development District (CMPDD) located in Jackson has been selected as the participating intermediary for the program. James McGuffee, planning and grants management supervisor with CMPDD, recently attended a training program on the Women's Pre-qualification Program in Washington, D.C. For more specific information, McGuffee should be contacted at (601) 981-1625.

The levels of SBA-backed lending to women business owners have increased by more than 300 percent since FY 1992, from 3,377 loans to 10,459 loans in FY 1996. These increases are partly the result of the pre-qualification program, as well as other innovative SBA loan initiatives, such as the LowDoc program.

For information about the SBA and its programs, visit the agency's home page at <http://www.sba.gov> or call the Jackson District Office at (601) 965-4378 ext. 234 or 232.

Credit Union holds record blood drive

Keesler Federal Credit Union's semi-annual Red Cross Blood Drive recently collected 67 units of much needed blood.

According to Keesler Federal blood drive chairperson Patsy Murray, "Our blood drive goal was to donate 45 units of blood and we surpassed this by 12 units. I appreciate everyone who gave the 'Gift of Life,' especially since the local blood supply is critically low."

Celebrating its 50th anniversary, Keesler Federal today serves over 122,000 members worldwide and has total assets in excess of $435 million.

BAY ST. LOUIS-WAVELAND SCHOOL DISTRICT BOND ISSUE ELECTION DATE - MAY 13, 1997

MESSAGE:

Bay St. Louis-Waveland and the surrounding territory of Hancock County is the second fastest growing area in the state.

- Bay St. Louis-Waveland schools have enrolled over 500 new students since 1990.
- Projected growth estimates another 500 new students will enroll over the next five years. This is a projected growth need of four new classrooms per year.
- The proposed facilities improvements are projected to provide for future growth.
- The proposed facilities improvements provide for new technology, serving the needs of our students and schools for entering the 21st century.

PROPOSED:

- Voters of Bay St. Louis and Waveland School District are asked to vote on May 13, 1997 in consideration of a $9 million dollar bond issue for the district.
- Approximately $6 million dollars of the bond money would be used for a new middle school (Grades 6, 7, and 8) which would include:
 - 32-36 New classrooms wired for state-of-the-art technology
 - Gymnasium
 - Cafetorium
- Approximately $3 million dollars would be used in the four existing schools in the district on a priority basis for
 - Needed repairs and additions to buildings, roofs, flooring, air conditioning, wiring, lighting, drainage and sewerage
 - Additional technology support for all schools

FACTS:

- In the last three years, in order to try to keep up with growth, the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District has built 12 new classrooms (6 at Waveland Elementary and 6 at North Bay Elementary) and added two double classroom modular buildings at the high school.
- These new additions have provided some relief at the elementary schools, however, they have not relieved the pressure of growth on the existing middle school (grades 4, 5 and 6) and at the combined junior and senior high school.
- The high school is operating at 110% capacity, due to the junior high classes and high school classes sharing facilities.
- There are no vacant classrooms available at the high school and some classes are forced to meet in the auditorium. Teachers have no vacant rooms for their planning periods.
- There are no vacant rooms for additional laboratories or technology.
- The addition of a true middle school (grades 6, 7 and 8) would provide relief at the existing middle school, junior high grades and the high school.
- With a new middle school, there would be room at the high school for new laboratories, technology expansion and additional elective courses.
- A $9 million dollar bond issue would provide for the construction of a new middle school and for needed repairs at the other four schools.

The proposal for facilities, repairs and technology will cost the owner of a $50,000 home approximately $52.00 per year ... less than 15 cents per day. The cost to an owner of a $100,000 home is approximately $104.00 per year ... less than 29 cents per day.

All qualified electors of the District will be entitled to vote in the election on the 13th day of May, 1997.

Ten flowers for your 1997 garden

By Norman Winter
Horticulturist
Central Mississippi Research and Extension Center

A reader asked me to put together a list of my top 10 flowers to try in 1997. Since people accuse me of never meeting a plant I don't like, selecting favorites was a huge challenge.

But here's my list.

1. Get to your nurseries fast because the New Wonder Scaevola is going fast. Known for its ability to endure Southern summers, New Wonder won the 1997 Mississippi Medallion award, the Georgia Gold Medal and the Louisiana Select award.

2. The Tapien verbenas that I have been raving about aren't as plentiful as I would like, so get yours soon. Look for blue-violet, lavender, pink and powder blue. This is another group that blooms all summer and loves the heat.

3. Indian Summer rudbeckia is a breathtakingly beautiful black-eyed Susan or Gloriosa daisy. The flowers are huge — almost softball size, but will not be in bloom when you buy it. It is perennial, but even as an annual it is worth every penny.

Try the Rudbeckia fulgida Goldstrum, another good black-eyed Susan, which is not as showy but more reliably perennial.

4. Every garden should have melampodium. This 1997 Mississippi Medallion winner can make anyone look like they have a green thumb. The yellow daisy-like flowers are never ending.

5. Crystal White zinnia is a wonderful 1997 All-America Winner. It produces tiny white daisy-like flowers with orange centers and gets about 24 inches tall and wide. It will produce all summer as well.

6. Purple wave petunia just may be the petunia that all others will be compared to in the future. This low-growing, rose-purple petunia is a prolific flower producer and will last longer into the summer than any other petunia you have tried before.

7. New Gold lantana was the 1996 Mississippi Medallion winner, a 1995 Georgia Gold Medal winner and is being sold now as fast as it was last year at the height of its promotion. Planted in combination with the blue-violet Tapien verbenas, this yellow-gold lantana will be a real show for your landscape or container.

8. Victoria blue salvia is a must in my garden with its beautiful tall blue flower spikes. All of mine returned faithfully after this winter and are putting on buds. The monarch butterflies that finally came last year liked these plants.

9. Sundial portulaca is a giant-flowered moss rose. These flowers are some of the best for staying open long into the day. Gardeners can mass plant a single color, such as the Sundial fuchsia, to create a bed of color that will literally stop traffic.

10. Royal Sonata cosmos produces some of the most beautiful, delicate, daisy-like flowers in shades of purple, rose and pink. The 18- to 24-inch plants with a feathery leaf texture work well in borders.

Now that I have listed my 10 favorites, I am already feeling unsure and guilt-ridden because I love my purple cornflowers, stokes asters and liatris. I like my Shasta daisies, Mexican sage, Russian sage and moon beam coreopsis.

I think the Stella d'Oro daisy is awesome and everyone should have at least a dozen. Pentas are another must. I have bought my Blue Daze evolvulus. Have you?

Maybe this should be the top 100 in order so I would not have to feel quite so nervous or guilty for those I left out.

Plants help purify home air pollutants

It is a scientific fact that common household items such as furniture, carpeting and building materials release hundreds of poisonous chemicals, including ammonia, formaldehyde, acetone and benzene, into the air. These airborne chemicals then become trapped indoors by poor ventilation, leading to the host of respiratory and allergic reactions now called Sick Building Syndrome.

Based on pioneering research for NASA, noted scientist Dr. B. C. Wolverton has discovered that houseplants are the quest and most effective filters of common air pollutants.

In How to Grow Fresh Air: 500 Houseplants that Purify Your Home or Office (Penguin, April 8, 1997; $15.95, ISBN: 0-14-026243-1) Dr. Wolverton explains how houseplants can produce oxygen, add precious moisture and filter toxins in the home or office with the same efficiency as a rainforest in our biosphere.

In this easy-to-follow, full-color guide, complete with over 100 photographs and illustrations throughout, Dr. Wolverton describes how to grow and care for 50 plants as common as the tulip and the Boston fern as well as many easily found varieties not generally thought of as indoor plants.

rates each plant for its effectiveness in removing various atmospheric pollutants — the lady palm and Areca palm are particularly effective — and for its ease of growth and maintenance.

It also rates these plants on their ability to effectively add significant quantities of pure moisture to the air — Ficus Alii and Peace lilies are the safest means of adding healthy moisture to indoor air during the winter.

Dr. Wolverton also recommends the best growing conditions for each plant, including instructions on growing plants in soil, by sub-irrigation and by hydroponics.

The Environmental Protection Agency currently ranks indoor air pollution as one of the top five threats to public health and the World Health Organization estimates that 30 percent of new buildings have indoor air quality problems.

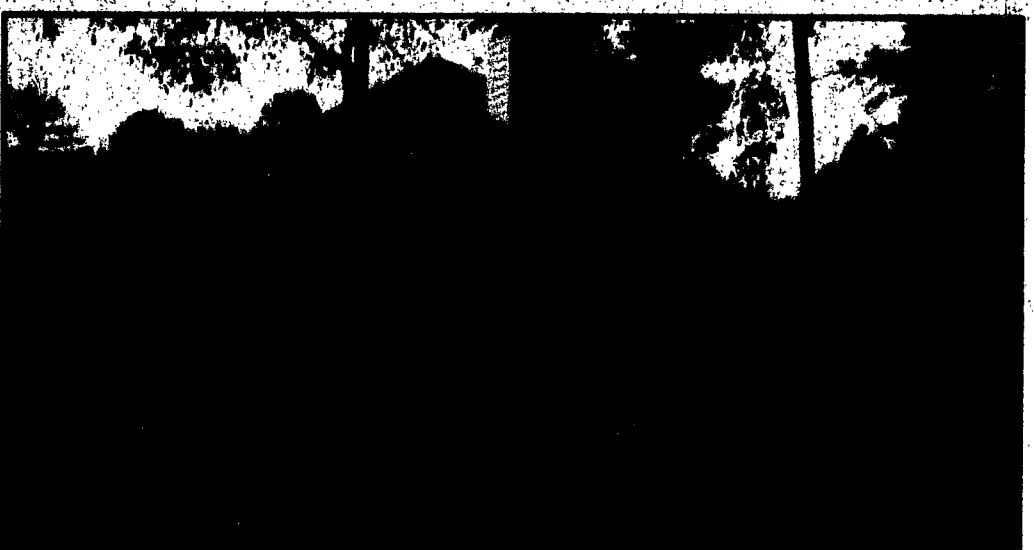

Since the average American spends approximately 90 percent of their life indoors, it is essential that steps be taken to eliminate the very real threat of indoor air pollution.

A healthy start with a healthy breakfast

Experts say that about one-fourth of all school-aged children leave home without eating breakfast. Without that healthy start, kids are at a disadvantage, according to a Mississippi State University nutrition specialist.

"Well-nourished children learn better," says Barbara McLaurin of the School of Human Sciences. "Their attention span becomes longer. They avoid getting a headache or stomach ache. A child who feels better, learns better."

McLaurin notes that children who don't eat breakfast "work slower, are not as accurate, and don't remember as much information."

To provide a nutritious breakfast, parents may want to start with bread or cereal, a milk product, and fruit or fruit juice, McLaurin advises.

She recommends using leftover pizza as a quick and easy breakfast item, along with milk and a piece of fruit. "A lot of parents don't think about last night's pizza as a source for feeding their children breakfast," McLaurin points out.

For those days when there just doesn't seem to be enough time, some other on-the-go menu might include:

- Cheese toast, hot cocoa and an orange. This meal will offer a boost of energy to start the day.
- Oatmeal (replace water with milk and add raisins) and a glass of orange juice.
- Bagel, ham, a glass of milk and a tangerine.

"Even simple means can provide big advantages," she says. "A good breakfast doesn't have to be complicated, time-consuming or even large. The least healthy breakfast is no breakfast at all."

Justin Fowler

Yarborough receives scholarship

Lisa Ann Yarborough of Bay High School has been awarded a four-year Leadership Scholarship from the University of Southern Mississippi.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Yarborough. She will be pursuing a nursing degree.

Fowler award winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced that Justin Fowler from Bay St. Louis has been named a United States National Award Winner in Leadership.

The award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. The Academy recognizes fewer than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Fowler, who attends Bay Middle School, was nominated for the national award by Barbara Cropp, a counselor at the school.

He will appear in the United States Achievement Academy official yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, executive director of the Academy.

Fowler is the son of Robert and Debby Fowler of Bay St. Louis.

What happens when our children meet their future?

Today we wipe away their tears and smile at their imperfections. Tomorrow they'll face a greater challenge in the world of business. The actions we take now will determine how they meet that future.

On Tuesday, May 13, citizens of Bay St. Louis and Waveland will be asked to vote for a bond issue to support their school district. From the proposed $9 million, approximately $6.5 million will be used to construct a new middle school (grades 6-8). The remaining funds (approximately $2.5 million) will be used to repair, upgrade, and equip Bay High School, Bay Middle School (which will be converted to an upper elementary serving grades 4-5), North Bay Elementary, and Waveland Elementary. These funds will provide the space required for the implementation of new educational programs and will affect every child in the district.

Go to the polls on May 13 and cast your vote for the future of our community.

Vote "Yes" for the children of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Stomach Pain?

Take this test. If you experience any of the following symptoms, you may have a peptic ulcer.

- ☐ A burning, gnawing stomach pain that occasionally spreads to your chest.
- ☐ Burning stomach pain that is usually relieved by food or antacids.
- ☐ Stomach pain that occurs within 30 minutes to two hours after you eat.
- ☐ Recurrent stomach pains that are somewhat similar to hunger pangs.
- ☐ Gastric pains felt in your back, between your shoulder blades.

According to the American Medical Association Family Medical Guide, one out of five men and one out of ten women experience a peptic ulcer at some point in their lives. Anyone who has experienced an ulcer can tell you they can bring discomfort, pain and inconvenience. And a bleeding ulcer can quickly become life threatening. Therefore, it is important to be aware of the signs, symptoms and complications of ulcers.

On Thursday, May 29, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., Dr. Timothy Trainor, a gastroenterologist, will conduct a seminar on the causes, treatment and prevention of peptic ulcer disease. The presentation will conclude with a question/answer session. Please join us at NorthShore Regional Medical Center, Main Dining Room, 100 Medical Center Drive.

The seminar is free, but seating is limited. Call 646-5014 to enroll.

A brighter future
in Hancock County,

JUST SAY YES

on Tuesday, May 13, declared Education Day in Hancock County.

For our children and for our future, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce proudly supports the School Bond issues for both the Bay St. Louis/Waveland Schools and Hancock County Schools. Both school districts currently rank in the top 25% in the state and both are performing at or above the national average. We must update our existing schools and create new, innovative schools in order to support the positive economic development Hancock County will continue to experience.

SEASIDE BEACH COAST ROAD - HANCOCK, MAY 11, 1997

Thirteen Mississippi, Louisiana and Alabama social workers took part in field instructor training at the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast to qualify as supervisors for students seeking a master's of social work degree from the university.

Field instructors provide social work education in an agency setting for the 18 students enrolled in USMGC's master's of social work program, as well as for students from USM's Hattiesburg program.

Trained MSW field instructors provide education, guidance and support to students who must complete 900 hours of work in social service agencies to receive an MSW. Presenting the training were Carolyn Swann, director of field instruction for USM's School of Social Work, Charlotte Grant, director of USM's Institute of Social Work program, and Geraldine Parham, professor emerita of USM's School of Social Work.

Among those taking part in the training were James DeDeaux of Hattiesburg, Health Center, Elizabeth Hubbard of Gulfport, City Schools, Gail Johnson of Gulf Coast Hospital, Jane May of Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, Betty Spencer of Bay St. Louis Clinical Center, and Geraldine Swann of USM's Hattiesburg, Field Instruction Program. The speakers are faculty members of USM's School of Social Work.

Ellen Crawford of St. Louis, Mo., is a field instructor for the University of Missouri, St. Louis, School of Social Work. She is also a faculty member of the University of Missouri, St. Louis, School of Social Work.

For information on USMGC's master's of social work program, call (601) 486-5547.

Horn Island adventures

It's time to register for the George Ohr Arts and Cultural Center's Horn Island adventure. The four-day, three-night trip will include art instruction by Moss Point artist Bill Nelson and the Memphis College of Art's Bob Reading and Richard Rapp.

Works generated from the trip will be featured in a Horn Island exhibit.

The $495 fee includes transportation to and from the island aboard one of the Seafood Industry Museum schooners, art instruction and meals. A non-refundable deposit of $50 is due to the George Ohr Center, 138 G. E. Ohr Street, Biloxi, MS 39530 by May 10.

There is a limit of 25 students, and all students must be at least 18 years of age. For information, call the Ohr Center at (601) 274-5547.

40th wedding anniversary

Charles Spiers Jr. and Geraldine Spiers will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday, May 18. They were married May 18, 1957. The anniversary celebration will be hosted by their family at the Geraldine's residence in Annapolis, Md. The couple has five children, Sheila Spiers Wagner, Rex, Louise, Hank and Joey Spiers, two grandchildren, and one on the way. Family and friends are invited to attend the celebration.

Library Story Hour

"Zoo Time" will be the theme of the children's story hour at the Kiln Library Tuesday, May 13 at 10:30 a.m.

Zoo-look, The Trouble with Elephants and Polar Bear, Polar Bear, What Do You Hear? are books to be read. Children will see the fingerplay and receive a color and craft sheet.

This will be the last children's story hour at the Kiln Library until September. "Cowboys and Cowgirls" will be the theme of the children's story hour Wednesday, May 14 at 10:30 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

Cowboy and the Blackeyed Pea is the book to be read, and children will see a Pecos Bill video.

Weekly story hours are held September through May. Programs last approximately one hour.

The Kiln Library hosts a story hour every other Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. These programs last about 30 minutes.

HANCOCK COUNTY RESOLUTION OF INTENTION

The Board of Supervisors, acting for and on behalf of Hancock County, Mississippi (the "County") and the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission (the "Commission") took up for consideration the matter of authorizing and approving a loan on behalf of the County from the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development (the "Department") for the purpose of making improvements to the Stennis International Airport Facility and thereby promoting commerce and economic growth.

Thereupon Supervisor Lisa Coward offered and moved the adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLUTION DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, TO AUTHORIZE AND APPROVE A LOAN ON BEHALF OF THE COUNTY AND THE HANCOCK COUNTY PORT AND HARBOR COMMISSION

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT IN A MAXIMUM PRINCIPAL AMOUNT NOT TO EXCEED Four Hundred Fifty Thousand DOLLARS ($450,000.00)

FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING IMPROVEMENTS TO THE STENNIS INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT FACILITY TO PROMOTE COMMERCE AND ECONOMIC GROWTH

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi (the "Governing Body" of the "County"), does hereby find, determine, adjudicate and declare as follows:

1. The Mississippi Business Investment Act, constituting Sections 57-61-1 et seq. Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended (the "Act"), was enacted for the purpose of promoting business and economic development in the State of Mississippi (the "State") through investment by private companies locating in the State.

2. Pursuant to Section 57-61-41 of the Act, the Department is authorized to make interest-bearing loans to state, county or municipal airport authorities for the purpose of making improvements to airport facilities.

3. The County and the Authority will agree to improve the airport facilities and will request the Department to finance a portion of the cost associated with the development of these improvements (the "Project").

4. Pursuant to the Act and guidelines adopted by the Department, the County and Commission will file an application with the Department for a loan to be used for the development of The Project in the amount of Four Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($450,000.00) (the "Loan").

5. The County and the Commission will enter into a Loan Agreement (the "Agreement") with the Department wherein the County and Authority agree to borrow the proceeds of the Loan subject to and upon the terms and conditions of the Agreement.

6. In order to secure the Loan, the County and the Commission will execute and deliver to the Department a Promissory Note (the "Note"). Failure of the County to meet its repayment obligations shall result in the forfeiture of sales tax allocation and/or homestead exemption reimbursement in an amount sufficient to repay obligations due pursuant to Section 57-61-15 (7) of the Act. Upon forfeiture of the County of its sales tax allocations and/or homestead exemption reimbursement for twelve (12) months, the County may levy an ad valorem tax on the taxable property therein for the purpose of meeting its repayment obligation in accordance with Section 57-61-15(8) of the Act. The revenue produced from the tax levy shall not be included within the ten percent (10%) growth limitation on ad valorem tax receipts for its general budget.

7. The Loan shall not be deemed indebtedness within the meaning specified in Section 19-9-5, Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE GOVERNING BODY OF THE COUNTY, AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. The Governing Body of the County, does hereby declare its intention to authorize and approve a Loan from the Department in the principal amount not to exceed Four Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($450,000.00) for the purpose of making improvements to the Stennis International Airport Facility thereby promoting commerce and economic growth.

Section 2. The Loan will be secured by a Note executed and delivered by the County and the Authority to the Department. Pursuant to Section 57-61-15 (7) of the Act, failure of the County to meet its repayment obligations shall result in the forfeiture of sales tax allocation and/or homestead exemption reimbursement in an amount sufficient to repay obligations due until such time as the indebtedness has been discharged or arrangements to discharge such indebtedness satisfactory to the Department have been made. Upon forfeiture of the County of its sales tax allocations and/or homestead exemption reimbursement for twelve (12) months, the County may levy an ad valorem tax on the taxable property therein for the purpose of meeting its repayment obligation in accordance with Section 57-61-15(8) of the Act. The revenue produced from the tax levy shall not be included within the ten percent (10%) growth limitation on ad valorem tax receipts for its general budget.

Section 3. The Governing Body proposes to authorize and approve the Loan from the Department in the amount and for the aforesaid purposes at a meeting of the Governing Body to be held at its regular meeting place at the Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi at 9:00 o'clock a.m. on the 28th day of May, 1997, or at some meeting held subsequent thereto. If twenty percent (20%) or fifteen hundred (1,500), whichever is less, of the qualified electors in the County shall file a written protest with the Clerk of the County against the authorization and approval for the Loan on or before the aforesaid date and hour, then the Loan shall not be entered into unless authorized at an election on the question of authorizing and approving the Loan. Such election shall be called and held as provided by law. If no protest is filed, then the Loan may be entered into without an election on the question of authorizing and approving the Loan at any time within a period of two (2) years after the date above specified.

Section 4. This Resolution shall be published once a week for at least four (4) consecutive weeks in the Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper published in the City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi and having a general circulation in the County and qualified under the provisions of Section 13-3-31, Mississippi Code of 1972, as amended. The first publication of this Resolution shall be made not less than twenty-one (21) days prior to May 28, 1997, and the last publication shall be made not more than seven (7) days prior to such date, said Resolution to be published on May 4, 11, 18, 25, 1997.

Section 5. The Clerk of the County shall be and is hereby directed to procure from the publisher of the aforesaid newspaper the customary proof of said publication of this Resolution and have the same before the Governing Body on the date and hour specified in Section 3 hereof.

Supervisor Steve Seymour seconded the motion to adopt the foregoing Resolution, and the vote thereupon was as follows:

Supervisor Ladner	voted: Yes
Supervisor Pullman	voted: Yes
Supervisor Coward	voted: Yes
Supervisor Seymour	voted: Yes
Supervisor Moran	voted: Yes

The motion having received the foregoing vote of the Governing Body, the President declared the motion carried and the Resolution adopted, on this the 30 day of April, 1997.

Cultists who commit suicide point to their longing for something outside of and above this earthly life. These human souls are on a seemingly endless search. Saint Augustine confessed to God long ago, "You have formed us for yourself, and our hearts are restless until they find rest in You."

A more or less abstract sense of guilt or heaviness may accompany this longing and restlessness. Depression may come because of feelings of unworthiness. There is an awful sense of condemnation.

We cover these untoward emotions with drugs. We turn to alcohol and seek adrenaline highs from sports or entertainment. Then we come down from the high and face reality.

The Bible forcefully and directly answers our dilemma. "There is now no condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus. For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set you free from the law of sin and of death" (Romans 8:1-2).

Cult members seek freedom. They think, wrongly, the mental anguish and emotional strains imposed upon them will yield true freedom and salvation. Jesus Christ sets us free from our emotional distress.

Through Jesus Christ we are brought into condemnation before the law of God's judgment. We find rest in the living God through Jesus Christ who died and rose again. We receive the Spirit of Life and freedom from Him.

WEDDING

Christman-deBen

Wendy deBen

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Joseph deBen announce the engagement of their daughter, Wendy Joan deBen, to William Preston Christman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph James Christman Jr. The wedding will be solemnized late May at Our Lady of the Gulf Church in Bay St. Louis. A reception will follow at the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

The bride, whose mother is the former Miss Barbara Jean Nelson of Antioch, Ill., was graduated from Bay High School and the University of Southern Mississippi, where she received a bachelor of business administration degree in marketing and was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and Phi Theta Kappa honors fraternity. She is employed by ExecuTrain Corporation as a senior account executive.

She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Warren Nelson and the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Antoine deBen.

Christman, whose mother is the former Miss Mary Jane Green of Bay St. Louis, was graduated from De La Salle High School, attended the University of Texas, and received a bachelor of arts degree in communications arts from Springhill College in Mobile, Ala. He is the president of Metal Building Products Co. in Harvey, La.

He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. John August Green and the late Dr. and Mrs. Ralph James Christman.

After a wedding trip to the British Virgin Islands, the couple will reside in New Orleans.

Mange-Kendrick

Darlene D. Kendrick and Robert William Mange, both of Bay St. Louis, were united in marriage May 9, 1997 in an afternoon ceremony on "The Passion" Yacht with Justice Court Judge Joe Dobson officiating. Soloist was Bobby Allison.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie C. Davis of Mobile, Alabama.

The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mange of Natchez, Miss.

The bride was given in marriage by Eddie C. Davis.

For the occasion the bride chose a gown of ivory crepe made by Bianci, featuring a fitted bodice, and a slit from the floor to the knee in the back with a sheer bow flowing from the closure at the back of the neck to below the waist. The gown was accented with a pearl necklace, earrings, bracelet and hair comb.

Cindy Eberhart was matron of honor.

Flower girl was Bethany Solie of Mobile, and ring bearer was Timothy Kendrick of Bay St. Louis.

Best man was Fredrick Mange.

A reception followed the ceremony at The Bridges Resort Clubhouse with music by Bobby Allison.

Both bride and groom are employees of Casino Magic and make their home in Bay St. Louis.

NOTICE OF BOND ELECTION

BAY ST. LOUIS/WAVELAND SCHOOL DISTRICT, MISSISSIPPI
NOTICE is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Bay St. Louis/Waveland School District of Hancock County, Mississippi (the "District"), that an Election will be held in the District on Tuesday 13th day of May, 1997, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors of the District the following proposition:

PROPOSITION
Shall the Bay St. Louis/Waveland School District of Hancock County, Mississippi, issue negotiable bonds in the maximum amount of Nine Million Dollars ($9,000,000) to raise funds for the purpose of purchasing, erecting, repairing, equipping, remodeling and enlarging school buildings and related facilities, including gymnasiums, auditoriums, lunch rooms and libraries and purchasing land therefor; establishing and equipping school athletic fields and necessary facilities connected therewith; and purchasing land therefor; and providing necessary water, light, heating, air conditioning and sewerage facilities for school buildings; and purchasing land therefor; and for paying the cost of such borrowing.

That the bonds are to be issued to raise money for the specific purposes of purchasing, erecting, repairing, equipping, remodeling and enlarging school buildings and related facilities, including gymnasiums, auditoriums, lunch rooms and libraries and purchasing land therefor; establishing and equipping school athletic fields and necessary facilities connected therewith; and purchasing land therefor; and providing necessary water, light, heating, air conditioning and sewerage facilities for school buildings; and purchasing land therefor; and for paying the cost of such borrowing (the "Project").

That the bonds proposed to be issued when added to the other then outstanding bonded indebtedness of the District, will not result in the imposition on any of the property of the District of any indebtedness for school purposes or more than fifteen percent (15%) of the assessed value of the taxable property within the District, according to the then last completed assessment for taxation, regardless of whether any of such indebtedness shall have been incurred by the District or by any other school district or districts.

That the election will be held in the following places in the District:

Polling Place
Arlington, Center on Dick's Street
Waveland East, Waveland Library
Waveland West, Waveland Elementary School
North Bay West, Bay Senior High School, Blue Meadow
West Shoreline Park, Center on Waveland-Kin Cullen Road
City Hall, Old Bay St. Louis City Hall, 2nd St.
South Bay, Christ Episcopal School

Record
$62,000
raised at Extravaganza

Pearl River Community College's 10th annual River Extravaganza posted a record $62,000 from ticket sales, auction items and underwriters. "What a great way to celebrate our 10th anniversary," said Donna Wilson, executive director of the sponsoring PRCC Development Foundation. "The event roared past last year's $51,000 record."

The first Extravaganza raised $19,000 in 1988.

The college's biggest single fund raising event of the year pooled the efforts of literally hundreds of individuals and businesses throughout south Mississippi and neighboring Louisiana.

Net proceeds will go toward student scholarships and teacher enhancement grants. After nine years, the PRCC Development Foundation has raised more than $2.4 million. The 1997 goal of $225,000 was reached around the first of the year and is now nearer the $300,000 mark.

The foundation has about $600,000 set aside toward its $1 million endowment.

"It's our volunteers who make this possible," said Wilson. "Their love and support of PRCC has funded $500,000 in scholarships for 1,700 students in the past nine years."

The Extravaganza mixes great food, auction items and a concert into one special evening on the Poplarville campus.

Nearly 700 ticket holders enjoyed entrees and treats from 14 restaurants and then pulled out their checkbooks to gobble up 300 auction items which were donated by as many as businesses.

"We can't thank the restaurant owners and their staff enough," said Wilson. "They not only donate all the food, but they give up their free time on Sunday to come to Poplarville."

Participating restaurants included Bradford's Seafood of Pass Christian, Chappys of Long Beach, Ching's Steak House of Bogalusa, Don's Seafood of Picayune, Four Star Pizzeria of Poplarville, K.C.'s Seafood Plus of Poplarville, Lau Tori's Fine Foods of Sumrall, Mack's Fish Cap of Hattiesburg, Magic City Restaurant and Catering of Bogalusa, The Magnolia of Poplarville, Paul's Pastry of Picayune, Stonewall's of Poplarville, Sodexo Management Services of Poplarville, Stonewall's of Poplarville and Western Corral Family Steak House of Columbia.

Dub (Paw Paw) Herring, one of the best known car dealers in this part of the nation, donated his time as auctioneer, while Jeff Lawson and Gurvir Dhindsa, news anchors from WLOX-TV (Channel 13) in Biloxi and Kelly Sanner, the morning show host for WDAM-TV (Channel 7) in Hattiesburg, spent the evening hosting the event.

Country music entertainer Ronnie McDowell, who has adopted PRCC and Poplarville, as a "special stop" of his 200-plus yearly performances, has become a good-will ambassador for the college. He has been spotted wearing a Pearl River College Wildcat cap around the nation and has mentioned PRCC on national television.

Howell Purvis of Purvis was chair of the Extravaganza Committee.

Area beaches rated in top ten nationally

The Mississippi Gulf Coast's 26 miles of sugar-white sand beaches were named one of the top 10 beaches in the United States by Byways magazine, the official publication of the National Motorcoach Network, in their annual beach survey.

The Gulf Coast beaches were ranked number eight in terms of the beach quality and appeal of the destination as a whole, including variety of attractions, motorcoach-friendly lodging facilities, group-friendly restaurants, customer satisfaction and requests for repeat trips.

Myrtle Beach, S.C. topped the list. Daytona Beach, Fla.,

Virginia Beach, Va.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; Atlantic City, N.J.; Galveston, Texas; Wildwood, N.J.; Cape May, N.J.; and Panama City, Fla. joined the Mississippi Gulf Coast in the top 10.

This ranking comes on the heels of the Mississippi Gulf Coast being ranked as one of the top 25 motorcoach destinations by the National Motorcoach Network, for the second year in a row.

"Beach destination travel continues to grow in popularity," said Steve Kirchner, editor and publisher of Byways.

"Information included in our Top 10 Beach Survey can aid group leaders, travel agents and tour operators in selecting desirable destinations for summer travel."

According to an industry trade association, every loaded motorcoach can mean $5,000-$7,000 a day in direct economic impact for the Gulf Coast economy.

Are you looking for the freshest seafood on the Coast? If you have answered yes, then you owe it to yourself to visit Darlene's Seafood in Pass Christian. Darlene's Seafood is located on Vidalia and Cable Bridge Road and carries a wide variety of delectable delicacies from the sea. Included in the inventory are stuffed crabs, stuffed crawfish, shrimp, oysters, fish, crabs, stuffed flounder, gumbo, stuffed potatoes, frog legs, alligator meat and wide variety of boiled seafood. Almost everything you need for a seafood feast can be found at Darlene's including seafood seasonings, cocktail sauces and the like.

Darlene's Seafood is run by Darlene Kimball of the Kimball Seafood family. At the very tender age of seven, Darlene was involved in the family business. She had the great pleasure of working alongside her great grandmother gaining valuable knowledge and experience. Darlene is the third generation of Kimballs to own their own seafood market. It was very natural for Darlene to follow in her family's path and in 1997 her dream of owning her very own seafood market came true. She studied the area North of Interstate 10 and felt that this would be an excellent location for her store.

Upon entering the market, you will notice the cleanliness of the store and the friendly atmosphere. At Darlene's Seafood, they go the extra mile to please the customer. Special requests are welcome and they are happy to take your order by phone. Darlene's Seafood Market is open seven days a week for your convenience. For more information, you may call 255-8400.

Darlene's Seafood is located at 12348 Vidalia Road in Pass Christian.
